

Table of Contents

I Executive Review and Summary

II Foreword

III What is “Harm Reduction”?

IV What is Tobacco and What Makes Tobacco Harmful?

- a) Tobacco use is a serious public health problem.
- b) Tobacco is big business.
- c) We are doing far too little to understand ‘tobacco’ and what to do about it.
- d) A market place filled with disinformation
- e) Summary and Conclusion

V Issues, Players, Challenges and Opportunities

- a) The role of science and technology
- b) The role of competition and incentives
- c) The role of tobacco agriculture
- d) The role of consumers
- e) Summary and Conclusion

VI Transparency, Accountability, Unintended Consequences

- a) Tobacco Manufacturers
- b) The Public Health Community
- c) The Pharmaceutical Industry
- d) Policy Makers
- e) Unintended Consequences
- f) Summary and Conclusion

VII The Relative Risk Reduction Continuum

- a) A changing environment
- b) Combustible versus noncombustible products
- c) Regulation should be commensurate with risk
- d) In assessing risks of products what should those risks be measured against?
- e) Surveillance of products and their marketing is critical

- f) Scientific and legal standards for allowing or disallowing claims and the disclosure of information.
- g) Summary and Conclusion

VIII Why Oversight of Tobacco and Tobacco Products is Both Necessary and Inevitable

- a) Introduction
- b) Why voluntary programs don’t work.
- c) What should FDA oversight entail?
- d) Why other agencies are not qualified to take lead on product regulation.
- e) Need for coordination with other federal agencies.
- f) USDA’s role in harm reduction efforts.
- g) Regulatory oversight and the development of regulations will not occur overnight.
- h) The need for effective oversight is not just a US concern but a global one as well.
- i) Summary and Conclusion

IX Where Do We Go From Here?: A Process for Future Engagement

- a) Introduction
- b) Need for an Independent/Permanent Tobacco Policy Research Center
- c) Elements for a Tobacco Policy Research Center
 - i) How should the Center be structured?
 - ii) An independent Board
 - iii) Authorities and Functions
- iv) Spectrum of organizations and interests who might be involved
- v) Issues that the Center should address
- vi) How should the Center be funded?
- d) Summary and Conclusion